[This is a compilation of all the sources on Nahuatl published since 1890 and is designed to bring Viñaza's basic work up to date. Since no cultural material is contained in the bibliography, it has not been processed for the NU7 Aztec file. At the time of publication, Croft was with the International Information Administration, Department of State. --Analyst]

Genin, Auguste. Notes on the Dances, Music, and Songs of the Ancient and Modern Mexicans. Annual Report of the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution Showing the Operations, Expenditures, and Condition of the Institution for the Year Ending June 30, 1920 (Publication 2622), pp. 657-677. Washington: 1922.

[This article, a translation from the Revue d'Ethnographie et de Sociologie, 1913, concerning the music and dances of Mexico, includes information on the Maya, Aztec and Huastec. Various special items from different regions are selected for exposition. The Aztec material has been taken from sources already processed for the Aztec file. Therefore, this article has not been processed for this file.]

Joyce, Thomas Athol. Mexican Archaeology: An Introduction to the Archaeology of the Mexican and Mayan Civilizations of Pre-Spanish America. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1914.

Pp. xvi, 384; 24 plates (one in color); 87 text figures; 3 maps (including 1 end map)

Yale: C67 7eb

[This source is divided in length almost equally between the Mexicans (i. e., the peoples of Central Mexico) and the Mayans. The materials discussed by Joyce have been more fully discussed by Vaillant in his Aztecs of Mexico, and the latter is far more up to date concerning the archeological materials (see 1: Vaillant, this File). For these reasons, this source has not been processed for the Aztec file. --Analyst]

Radin, Paul. The Sources and Authenticity of the History of the Ancient Mexicans. University of California Publications in American Archaeology and Ethnology, Vol. 17, No. 1. Berkeley: 1920.

Yale: C52. 07 17

[This source contains a discussion and analysis of documents relating to the history of the Aztecs with evaluations of the various documents. Since the source contains no original material on Aztec culture, it has not been processed for the Aztec file. --Analyst]

Thompson, J. Eric. Mexico Before Cortez: An Account of the Daily Life, Religion, and Ritual of the Aztecs and Kindred Peoples. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1933.

Pp. xi, 298; 34 plates

Yale: C67. 51t

[This book consists mainly of secondary material, particularly drawn from Sahagun, which is being processed for the files from the originals. In addition, the archeological material is largely out of date. It has not, therefore, been processed for the Aztec file. --Analyst]
